Teen Connection peer support

Recovery Empowerment Network (REN) provides behavioral health peer support and other services to help those on their recovery in the Phoenix metro area.

According to REN CEO, April Dickerson, "We go from A to Z in our peer services, from helping those in crisis all the way to providing supported employment services when someone is at that place in their recovery."

For over 15 years, REN has helped adults in recovery. Their newest program is Teen Connection Night. Teen Connection is a new peer group focused on helping youth ages 14 to 17.

Youth who need peer support can meet up at REN twice a month from 5:30pm-7:30pm. They can enjoy a meal with new friends in a safe place. They can talk about their recovery with other teens who share similar experiences.

REN staff also sees a need to support youth transitioning into adulthood with life skills. Some of these skills include budgeting, social connections and other educational options. REN is dedicated to helping youth avoid homelessness, drug use or other harmful experiences.

Recover coach Jennifer Alonzo said, "I have six years of recovery! As a youth who dealt with problems I felt alone and the programs back then were tailored to adults. I experienced trauma. I didn't have the needed independent living skills or coping skills. REN's Teen Connection Night would have helped me as a youth by providing peers that could relate to me in a safe place."

For more information about signing up a youth for Teen Connection, visit https://renaz.org/teen-night.

Snapshots of Success: Hayley R.

Today, Hayley is a new mother to a healthy baby boy and has support from family, her partner and health care providers. Only a short time ago, she was living on the streets and in an abusive relationship. Hayley was not engaged with her clinical team, skipped provider appointments and was no longer taking medication.

Hayley found recovery in the CHEEERS Peer Doula Program. Hayley said her Peer Doula, Carlie, "provided a safe space, group therapy, resources and was just really comforting and helpful."

The program provided Hayley and her partner with pregnancy education and a birthing plan. After giving birth, she received additional resources and referrals for postpartum services.

Hayley is looking forward to the next steps in her recovery and building a caring home life with her new family.

Snapshots of success: Tonya C.

A job can empower a person's recovery, but a career can empower someone's life dreams. This is the case for Tonya, who has started her own dog walking and pet sitting business in the West Valley.

Tonya receives services from Copa Health to treat severe anxiety. When she was ready to start working again, they referred Tonya to the Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) Program. VR is a work program that helps individuals receiving mental health services or with disabilities prepare for, secure, retain, regain or advance in a job.

Tonya stated, "I sought job help at first, but then Heather [the VR counselor] told me about this other program where I could start my own business and be able to work, instead of having to deal with another job that I might lose because of my mental health."

Tonya worked with Heather and Odyssey Services Corp. to create a business plan that she presented to VR. The business plan was approved, and Tonya founded Your Pets Matter Too in 2021.

"It's going really well," said Tonya. "I have quite a few clients and I'm busy! It was the perfect business for me. I love dogs and I love cats, so it was such a good fit. I couldn't have done it without [VR]."

If you are interested in receiving VR services talk with your case manager about a referral. Contact the VR general information line at 1-800-563-1221 or visit the VR website at https://bit.ly/3PIKrzF to find the nearest office.

Snapshot of success: Ken S.

Ken's path to independent living is looking up after some challenges. This spring, he accepted an entry level Peer Support position. His next goal is to live in his own place with the help from the Housing Opportunities & Meaningful Employment (HOME) program, created by La Frontera EMPACT.

Ken used the skills he gained in this program to apply for jobs, interview and follow up with hiring companies. He worked hard to find work for over a year. He went through setbacks such as being laid off from a job after a few weeks and being told he didn't have enough experience to become a peer support specialist. Ken never gave up on his work goals though, and his employment specialist never gave up on Ken.

Currently, Ken is living in temporary housing, but he is working with his Housing Navigator on creating a budget and other independent living skills. He is excited for the next step in his life and helping others to succeed.

Valley movers help members into their new homes

If you've ever received moving assistance from Mercy Care, it was likely Fast Action Movers that did the job. Since 2003, Mario Caperon has been providing moving services to members with a Serious Mental Illness (SMI) designation with his company Fast Action Movers. Mr. Caperon has been a staple in the behavioral health community. He is well-known by all the health home providers.

"Mario and his crew are always very caring and compassionate to our members. They show up on time. They are even available to coordinate with the team and member ahead of time. Mario has been a reliable and dependable resource for our population," said Sharika Smiley, SMI administrator for Community Bridges, Inc.

The moving services that Mr. Caperon provides are an important part of the Housing First Model. It is well-known that members with an SMI designation or substance use issue have a chance to thrive if they have housing. Members may start off in temporary housing, but the goal is for them to have their own place.

Mr. Caperon noted, "Relocating customers can have its obstacles. Every job is different because each customer has a unique set of challenges. Many of them are in difficult situations. We do our best to provide orderly, time efficient services that are as stress-free as possible. At the end of the day, we are in the business of service – helping people."

Mercy Care recognizes and is thankful to Mr. Caperon for his past and continued commitment to our members.

Grant-funded programs to aid in recovery and mental health

Did you know Mercy Care helps manage recovery and mental health grant funding to behavioral health providers? The funding is made possible by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). Even if your AHCCCS benefits don't cover some of these services, you may still be able to get treatment through these grant-funded programs. These programs also help people who are uninsured.

Mental Health Block Grant (MHBG)

The MHBG provides mental health treatment services to:

- Adults with a Serious Mental Illness (SMI) designation.
- Children diagnosed with Serious Emotional Disturbance (SED).
- People experiencing a First Episode of Psychosis (FEP).

For information on MHBG funding, visit https://bit.ly/3c9roun.

Substance Abuse Block Grant (SABG)

The SABG provides substance use treatment services to adults and youth. For information on SABG funding, visit https://bit.ly/3uJn4bA.

State Opioid Response (SOR) Grant

The SOR grant helps give access to Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT), integrated care, and opioid and stimulant use addiction recovery services. For information about treating an opioid addiction, visit https://bit.ly/3aBu3MS. For ACC members, call 602-263-3000 or 1-800-624-3879 (TTY/TDD 711) to get connected to care. For RBHA members, call 602-586-1841 or 1-800-564-5465 (TTY/TDD 711). Representatives are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

How do I talk to someone about suicide?

Sometimes when a loved one is struggling in their life, they may be considering suicide. It's important to know the warning signs and to seek help.

They may say they want to die, talk about feeling hopeless, having no purpose or being a burden to others. Listen to them carefully. Let them know you are there for them. Get them connected to resources.

Other times a loved one is thinking about suicide but doesn't tell anyone. Look for warning signs such as them being withdrawn, sleeping too much or not enough, increasing drug or alcohol use, or being anxious, agitated or reckless. Ask them if they are considering suicide. Let them know that suicide is a serious matter. Connect to helping resources.

The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline phone number is 988. Caring reps are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. They offer support in English and Spanish.

Call 1-800-273-TALK (8255) at any time for help if a friend is struggling and you need support.
